

Crooklets

(GR 201073) Just north of Crooklets beach (Bude) a wide path leads down to the south end of Wrangle point beach (page 186). Sirens rock (for want of a better name) is the foreshore rock more or less in front of the end of the path.

1 Giddy 35 feet E7 6b

An excellent route. Climb left of the obvious small triangular pocket on poor holds until a good resting hold in a shallow scoop is gained. Make a committing move left for a flat edge, then make a long reach above for a good jug and easier climbing. Alleged to be easier for the tall, grade can change depending what is covering the beach.

2 Sheila 35 feet E3 6a

Very worthwhile start to the right of Giddy. Straight forward climbing past some slots leads to some small diagonal cracks (gear). Finish direct up the slab (bold).

3 Chocolate Starfish 30 feet MVS 4b

The crack to the right of Sheila. Variation finish 4b follows the left hand crack.

4 Dribbles 30 feet S

Just right of chocolate starfish is a slab, which is slightly undercut. Climb this.

5 Rusty Bullethole 25 feet V Diff

The crack right of Dribbles.

6 Sheriffs Badge 25 feet V Diff

The crack right of Rusty bullet hole.

7 Smears 25 feet V Diff

Just right of the previous is a small groove leading to a small overlap. Follow this and the slab above to the top.

8 £10 25 feet V Diff

The slab to the right of smears.

9 Minkie 30 feet S

The big crackline on the left. Scramble off leftwards.

10 Sea View 30 feet V Diff

Follow the lefthand arête and slab, finish as for Minkie.

Fuel Crisis 30 feet E4 6a

100 yards north of sirens rock is a slab with 4 pegs in it. Climb past these to lower of the last peg. They look a little old.
